NEW-YORK CITY.
 A cross dog belonging to Max Steinberger, at No. 343 East 14th-st., on Monday night bit a small piece out of the leg of Charles Kennedy, age thirteen, who was walking in the street. The wound was cauterized and a policeman killed the dog.

William Sims, of No. 1,666 Third-ave., sent his son Walter on an errand on Saturday, giving him $5 with which to make a purchase. The boy failed to return and was still missing yesterday.

A fight in the yard of the stable at No. 328 East Fifty-third-st., late on Monday night, resulted in the slaying of James Hall, of No. 900 First-ave. He was cut twice under the left arm by Charles King, who escaped.

The arrangements for the promenade concert at the Produce Exchange on December 31 are extensive. The decorations on the main floor are to cost $300, and the committee will also spend $200 for electric lighting in addition to the gas jets. Only 4,000 tickets will be issued.

Following the $5 reduction by the North German Lloyd in storage rates, the Rotterdam Line has reduced its tickets to $13.

The Aldermen yesterday refused to take any steps to amend the ordinance relative to inspectors and searchers of weights and measures.

While preparing to set off a blast at Seventy-ninth-st. and Avenue A yesterday, Daniel Brown, of No. 1,400 Second-ave., was injured seriously about the head by the premature explosion of a cartridge.

The Commonwealth Insurance Company, which was recently organized with a capital of $300,000, has increased its capital to $500,000.

A man who looked like a Hebrew and wore a beaver overcoat, was reported yesterday to have been seen at No. 72 Rivington-st. and was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

The opinion of the Corporation Council regarding the duty of the Sanitary Police to inspect steam boilers used for heating public buildings, puzzles the Police Board. It does not explain the duties of the police, they say.

Arthur O'Brien's barn, at Cambridge and Pelham aves., Pelham, was heavily destroyed by fire on Monday night, and the loss was estimated at $10,000. His son, Frederick, age sixteen, was badly scorched. The loss by fire was about $10,000.

Samuel Kohn, who said he was arrested on a false charge of disorderly conduct by Policeman Cooper of the Fifth Precinct, went with his mother to Police Headquarters yesterday. She insisted that her arrest was an outrage, and Mr. Murray decided to have her charge investigated.

Mrs. Emma R. Kennedy, Josephine A. Van Vorst, Caroline Britton, Emma J. Forbes, Mary S. Schell, Mary E. Bead, Ella A. Kier and Mary A. Barnes are to be the managers for the first year of the Madison Avenue Depot and Exchange for Women's Work, which was incorporated yesterday.

A case of measles at the House of the Holy Family, No. 138 Second-ave., was reported yesterday to the Board of Health.

The general sales agents of the anthracite coal-producing companies met yesterday and voted to advance the price of chestnut coal fifteen cents per ton. The other grades were left unchanged.

Alderman-elect William Fick of the Xth Assembly District received on Monday evening from his friends and constituents a gold watch and chain. Coroner Ferdinand Levy made the presentation speech.

The annual meeting of the Manhattan Athletic Club, held at the new clubhouse, No. 524 Fifth-ave., last evening, was largely attended. The following officers were elected: President, George W. Carr; Vice-president, C. F. Trotter; Secretary, W. J. Swan; Treasurer, Walter Stearns; and a number of other officers.

Charles Fort, of No. 217 Carlton-ave., a well-known engraver, yesterday sent James N. Allen, a lithographer, $1,000 for engraving a portrait of General Grant. The engraving was done in the lithographic department of the New York Engraving and Lithographic Co., and the portrait was sent to General Grant.

W. A. McKee, inquiry clerk in the Post Office, has been removed or stationed to duty and absent without leave. In the case in which the decision of surrogate Lott was appealed from to the General Term now sitting, his opinion has been reversed, except in one instance.

President Wilson, of the Assessment Department, estimates the population at 935,000 and the Health Department makes 1,000,000. The last census, in 1880, made it 860,000.

The assessed valuations of property for 1886 exceed the valuations for 1885 by $1,324,444, of which $12,000,710 is from new buildings and $1,312,444 from the new property.

At the sale of the pews of the Central Congregational Church, of which Dr. A. J. F. Hehrle is pastor, a falling of about $1,000 in the premiums to be offered. The first round of the pews was sold at about three-fourths of their value.
